Job Description

The Food Safety Authority of Ireland may create a panel from which future permanent and temporary Enforcement Policy Executive vacancies may be filled.

REPORTS TO Enforcement Policy Manager

JOB ENVIRONMENT

The Food Safety Authority of Ireland (FSAI) is a statutory, independent and science-based agency, dedicated to protecting consumer interests in the area of food safety and hygiene by raising compliance through partnership, science and food law enforcement.

One of the primary objectives in setting up the FSAI was to ensure that the highest possible standards of food safety were developed, communicated and fully implemented. Ensuring compliance with food legislation is a major element of the FSAI's role. The key mechanism through which the FSAI carries out this part of its mission is through service contracts with the official agencies which enforce food safety legislation on behalf of the FSAI.

JOB PURPOSE

The Food Safety Authority of Ireland is responsible for the enforcement of all food legislation in Ireland. The Authority carries out this enforcement function through "service contracts" with official agencies. Section 48 of the FSAI Act, 1998 gives the legislative basis for this.

There are six different official agencies which have responsibility in relation to food safety. The service contracts in place are with agencies including the Health Service Executive, the Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine, the Sea-Fisheries Protection Authority and the Marine Institute.

These contracts outline an agreed level and standard of food safety activity that the agencies perform as agents of the Authority. They also contain objectives and targets for food control, the timeframe for delivery, resources committed to deliver the contract and other relevant matters. In addition, they provide for the development of specific detailed food safety control programmes.

The jobholders will be responsible, as part of a team led by an Enforcements Policy manager, for supporting the management of these service contracts with official agencies so that food legislation is enforced in compliance with the FSAI legal responsibility and mission. The appointees will also be responsible for providing advice/support on the use of enforcement powers as required.

Due to the multiplicity of official agencies involved in this area the job holders require a range of skills and abilities to secure and maintain the active co-operation of key players.
